Young designers make their mark with FDC in Action

It’s fabulous, it’s furniture! Don’t miss designs from these top companies.

MIFF art exhibitions set to ‘wow’ both aficionados and novices alike

This year, the Malaysian International Furniture Fair (or MIFF, as it’s affectionately called) turns 25 years old. And if this quinquagenarian milestone wasn’t enough – there’s even more to celebrate this year: Muar has been officially declared as the “Furniture City of Malaysia” by the federal government. So, what does that mean for MIFF exhibitors and attendees? Well, extra excitement of course – plus products from more than 200 Muar manufacturers, which make up half of the Malaysian exhibitors!

Obviously, this is a very big deal to the Malaysian furniture industry and to MIFF, as well. Ms Karen Goi, the MIFF general manager, says that MIFF and Muar have a longstanding history: “The Muar factor has been an integral part of MIFF from the very start . . . as we celebrate our 25th year, it’s fitting to pay tribute to the vision and hard-earned reputation of the Muar furniture makers who are the trailblazers of Malaysia’s rise as a global furniture exporter.”

In fact, Muar accounts for 70 percent of Malaysia’s furniture exports to the world, making a significant contribution to the country’s RM10 billion furniture export market.

Ms Goi says that the remarkable mix of innovation, high-quality craftsmanship and best in design from Muar will be showcased at MIFF 2019, providing visitors with another exceptional buying experience. MIFF attendees will find a main cluster of these exhibitors in the dedicated Muar Hall in MITEC (Level 1), while others are scattered through various prominent areas, including the designRena exhibit, the MIFF Office and the Sofa Hall.

“MIFF is the best platform to view the latest productions from Muar all under one roof. Whatever type of furniture buyers are looking for is produced in Muar. The bigger show means we are returning in 2019 with even more products and latest collections.”

to max out the display space,” said Mr Keh Wee Kiet, Muar Furniture Association (MFA) president, noting that since 2013, this strategic partnership has benefited both groups. “The diversity of international buyers brings real business opportunities to existing and new companies, and this invariably boost Malaysia’s furniture exports and expands its global network,” he added.

This also creates an opportune time to reaffirm MIFF’s strategic partnership with MFA. “MFA will be looking to expand the Muar Hall at MIFF every year. Buyers can rest assured we will be improving booth designs and original exhibits to cater to market needs,” said Mr Keh. Show organisers hope that Muar Hall will provide a collaborative platform between MIFF and MFA to introduce their products to the export market.

And the Award Goes to...

MIFT wouldn’t be complete without recognising the designers and exhibitors who are models for innovation and creativity in the industry. For example, the Furniture Excellence Award (FEA) encourages designers exhibiting at MIFF to produce furniture with creativity and originality, while maintaining marketability and sustainability. Exhibitors even have a chance to win with the Best Presentation Award (BPA) for well-designed and attractive booths at the exhibition.

In addition, previously introduced awards and competitions are still going strong – this includes the Furniture Design Competition (FDC) for young Malaysian furniture designers (which led to FDC in Action, where past winners have the incredible opportunity to collaborate with established manufacturers). Plus, last year, MIFF launched the new Millennials® Design (MAD) gallery. This finely curated segment features work from the best young Malaysian designers – in particular, past FDC winners.

From Then to Now

So, how did MIFF grow up to be the darling of the Southeast Asian furniture market? Well, it all began quite simply, with now MIFF Founder and Chairman Dato’ Tan Chin Huat. His vision to transform Malaysia into a regional business hub for the furniture industry has been all but realised as his ‘baby’ celebrates its 25th year. MIFF was born in 1995, with 152 exhibitors in 8,000-square-metres of space at the Putra World Trade Centre (PWTC). Fast forward to MIFF 2018, which exceeded all expectations with a 13 percent increase in exhibitors and a 25 percent increase in exhibition space at both PWTC and the Malaysia International Trade and Exhibition Centre (MITEC). This continued growth is made possible with the support from Ministry of Primary Industries, Ministry of International Trade and Industry, and its related agencies.

Of course, there have been some challenges in the last 25 years, but MIFF has managed to successfully overcome them. “A milestone anniversary is a good time to recollect achievements and successes, but more importantly, is determining what MIFF will be like in the coming years,” said Dato’ Tan. “The key lesson from the last 25 years is that we must remain relevant to the needs of the market.”

Now, MIFF 2019 is poised to outdo itself – again. Featuring over 600 exhibitors from Malaysia and beyond (including designs from first-time ‘MIFFers’ from Portugal, Romania and Sri Lanka), buyers will likely need to spend more time to explore the impressive range of new products, as well as for networking to develop new business opportunities.

All in all, it’s been an exciting 25 years for MIFF – and with this momentum, show organisers are looking forward to marking more milestones, and continuing to connect furniture designers, manufacturers and buyers for many years to come.

Happy Birthday, MIFF!
Over the years, the FDC in Action programme has evolved. Now, with a focus on furniture design strategies and brand solutions, the Furniture Design Competition (FDC) finalists are working in market repositioning and providing marketing solutions.

A few of these designers are taking bold steps and collaborating with local manufacturers to develop new furniture collections for MIFF 2019 exhibitors. We speak to three young designers and two manufacturers on their partnerships at MIFF 2019.

Lim Bo Qiang & Jasper Lee with OASIS Furniture

Lim Bo Qiang and Jasper Lee, who are first prize winner and finalist of FDC 2016 respectively, have been designing an entire office system solution for local furniture manufacturer OASIS. Named ‘Habitué’ (Habitat in French), it is a collection under the OASIS brand Perfect U, inspired by the habitats that we live in, like the land, sea and sky.

The collection is design-oriented, thus targeting architectural and design firms and covering spaces that are divided into three categories: private, semi-private and public spaces.

“We believe offices today should be a place where one can feel at home,” said Bo Qiang. “We want to enhance OASIS’ current existing collection by creating stronger statements and highlighting their specialities.”

He says that currently, the office space trend is very open, so they tried to infuse privacy in open concept areas. The Habitué collection covers all areas in the office, including work-stations, paneling systems, collaborative pods, meeting pods, focus pods and public seating and lounge areas.

Their designs include personalised workstations, tables that liven up to the office meeting environment, and canopy lounge seating in various forms. One highlight is the Caveman Collaboration Pod, which is a hub for people to meet and is equipped with technology including television, HDMI, power and USB support.

Both Bo Qiang and Jasper said OASIS Managing Director Mr Ralph Ong was very open-minded and was always ready to accept new concepts and ideas. He didn’t interfere with their work, but rather gave some references and comments.

“We would discuss with the two designers about our target market, target region as well as our needs and wants. From there, they derived on the company’s value proposition for the set of collection with the right features,” said Mr Ong, adding that upon the brainstorming and strategic thinking session, he is confident that the designers’ work would fit into the company positioning.

“Our company appreciates the talents that we have in this country,” he said. “The furniture industry in Malaysia has many resources available. However, we need to go deeper into thinking and planning on building up a mid-to-long-term strategy on how we create value – that is, creativity and resources.

He says as a furniture manufacturer, it is important to provide the right customer with right solution. There is a need to combine all resources and talents to create abundant wealth to help build each other up.

As Bo Qiang and Jasper have backgrounds in both interior design and office furniture, they are able to create solutions – not just from a furniture perspective, but with interior design in mind as well.

“That is why we are strongly attracted to working with designers as we value their talents and their ideas,” said Mr Ong. “We need to have the right target market, market propositions and positioning, while meeting market needs within the right channels. We provide these philosophies to our designers and they create the solutions.”

The two designers are looking forward to responses from buyers and the public on their designs and approaches in office furniture. They also hope to gain more acceptance in originality and new ideas from Malaysian furniture designers.

“Our aim is to create awareness that we are ready to work and collaborate with not just one, but many more manufacturers,” said Jasper. “MIFF has offered us the platform. Now Malaysian designers have to take the initiative and utilise this platform to perform and go further.”

Both Jasper and Bo Qiang reckon that Malaysian furniture manufacturers should use the talents of local designers who are compatible in design and thought and collaborate with them to take Malaysian talent onto an international stage.

“This is a transition period where manufacturers are beginning to accept us and work with us. We need to accelerate the process,” said Jasper. “I believe as furniture designers, we can bring manufacturers of various categories together to form a brand of its own, to promote a Malaysian brand of furniture overseas.”

Mr Ong says that with Malaysia’s competitive advantage in resources, including natural resources, low labour cost and its talents, OASIS believes young designers have a bright future in the furniture industry.

“We hope the furniture industry will incubate designers, leading the Malaysia furniture market to bloom. We urge bringing manufacturers of various categories to form a brand of its own, to promote a Malaysian brand of furniture overseas.”

Victoria Pamela Yap Wei with BSL Furniture

The collaboration between Victoria Pamela Yap Wei and BSL Furniture took root way back in 2016, when the young designer debuted in the FDC at MIFF 2017 and bagged the Gold Award.

“At that time, we had to work with a manufacturer. BSL Furniture was the first one who chose us!” said Victoria. “Collaboration with them was probably driven by a shared pride in the competition and a shared sense of joy in the result of the collaboration.”

Mr Nick Wee, marketing manager of BSL Furniture, said after he joined the company five years ago, he decided to explore ways to collaborate with local designers to help diversify the company’s products and gain new market expansion.

“Through the FDC in Action programme, we worked with young designers to prototype their designs. This in turn helped in our product and design diversification, especially in the product life cycle,” he shared.

“I first met Victoria during the MIFF FDC competition in 2016 when BSL furniture assisted her in creating a prototyping of her design, ‘The Able’. After Victoria won first prize of FDC 2017, we successfully marketed The Able overseas markets such as China,” he said.

The new furniture series will be showcased at the specially-curated gallery “Millennials @ Design” (MAD) – FDC in Action at Malaysia International Trade and Exhibition Centre (MITEC).

Victoria’s company Zangtoria Designs is also devoted to kid’s furniture, offering design experiences that are distinct, with a unique sense of individuality.

“Her designs mainly target millennial parents. In Malaysia, I would suggest that the industry capture the millennial parents’ market. Whereas for overseas markets, such as China, we need to focus on the design’s uniqueness as the market buys the story behind a product instead of the product design itself,” he said.

Besides showcasing Victoria’s designs in their exhibition booth, Mr Wee says BSL Furniture will introduce her to existing buyers in order to expand her marketability.

For Victoria, FDC in Action shows how collaborations can enhance individuals’ practice, and MIFF is the proof of the fact that collaboration can be fun – and fun can drive collaboration.

“I believe that for FDC in Action, the only way to be successful in a hyper-connected world is to work together. FDC is a creative platform to show one’s talents, an take part in the unexpected collaborations that pop up from time to time,” she said.

She admits that collaboration between different organisations and individuals can be challenging, but the advantage of sharing resources and ideas and the merits of working together with creative designers is worth the investment.

“We hope the furniture players will accelerate the process,” said Jasper. “I us and work with us. We need to collaborate with them to take Malaysian to reach the goal.”

Meanwhile, Mr Wee says BSL Furniture focuses on flexible systems that can be altered and extended to meet any need or stage in a one’s life, namely furniture ranges for children from loft beds to bunk beds) and young adults (high beds to double beds).

Muar in Design – Evolving into the FUTURE

Professional Designers Programme – Muar Edition (PDP Muar) 2019
Malaysian International Furniture Fair (MIFF) 2019
Design@Hall9

The story so far...

In 2015, Malaysian Timber Industry Board (MTIB) initiated the Professional Designers Programme (PDP) in close collaboration with the Malaysian Furniture Promotion Council (MFP) and with strong support from the Ministry of Primary Industries (MPI). International and Malaysian professional designers have been involved in PDP with the support of the TANGGAM initiative by MTIB, and an additional seven international designers have participated in the programme, coming from as far as Italy and Belgium, and as near as Australia. There are a total of 68 prototypes and finished furniture products available in the PDP catalogue now, either for further development or immediate commercialisation.

Muar has the largest cluster of furniture-based businesses, making it the main component of the Malaysian furniture industry. After more than 35 years since the first container of furniture was exported from this once sleepy fishing town, Muar has now become one of the largest OEM-based furniture production line in the world. Therefore, it is only natural for Muar to seek out PDP in its evolution to remain as one of the main players in the global furniture market.

A total of eight Muar furniture manufacturers and exporters braved this effort for change with the assistance of six committed designers from Malaysia, Italy and Belgium. A promise of 16 new and fresh furniture designs is to be presented by PDP Muar Showcase (Design@Hall9) at MIFF 2019.

FABULOUS FURNITURE
Strokes of the Master

Chinese ink painting is the most representative of all Chinese painting styles. Through the simple use of water and black ink, it’s able to depict a rich artistic conception of the world. This form of painting began in the Tang Dynasty, flourished throughout the Song, Yuan and Ming dynasties, and continues to develop into modern times.

This year, as a special highlight of the Fair, MIFF presents an artistic showcase by globally renowned Malaysian artist Master Zheng Zhong Chen, who is especially skilled in Chinese traditional ink painting. Possessing a unique style and unmarked artistry, Master Zheng’s paintings are very much sought after by Chinese art lovers worldwide. For the record, one of them was sold for RM400,000 in China.

As the founder of the Malaysian Ink Painting Association, Master Zheng has played a pivotal role in the development of ink and wash painting in Nanyang. Throughout his career as an artist, he has held hundreds of art exhibitions all over the world, including in Europe, the Americas, Japan, Korea, and around the Mediterranean; owned galleries in Malaysia, China and Taiwan; and taught students from more than 30 countries.

Over his lifetime, he has travelled the world and produced many paintings, yet the theme of his paintings has never strayed too far away from his hometown of Malacca. Even though he left when he was 16 years old, his heart and emotions are still very much connected to his beloved hometown. Migratory birds such as the heron, the vast and unending ocean, as well as the dense mangrove forests of this historical town (which was an important port), are significant and recurring themes in his paintings and musings about life.

Master Zheng is exceptionally adept at depicting the mysteries of life through minimalism, using as few lines as possible, together with the clever use of space, to express the wonders of life and the diversity of our universe. His paintings are not only aesthetically pleasing, they have the magical quality of leading viewers to reminisce about their childhood, and to reflect on the true meaning of life.

Born in the year sharing the same name, the rooster is a prominent feature in many of his paintings—and his depictions of them are extremely vivid and elegant. To him, the rooster is an interesting and resilient animal and his paintings of them are extremely realistic. In fact, they look so real that the viewer may feel that he or she can almost grasp the chickens!

Besides the rooster, he is also an expert in painting cranes, flowers, trees and landscapes. To him, there is no shortcut when it comes to making art. In order to achieve success, one has to persevere and press on. According to him, talent is 30 percent and hard work is 70 percent. And thanks to years of hard work, he has mastered the art of ink painting in delicate and soft strokes, as well as rough and bold strokes. And even though he is already a master of his craft, he continues to strive for breakthroughs in every piece of art he creates.

The “Ink from the East” Showcase is a highlight of MIFF 2019 that is definitely not-to-be-missed. Make a date with us and delve into the mesmerizing world of Chinese ink painting.

The Return of ArtEDecor

Following the huge success of ArtEDecor in 2018, this one-of-a-kind exhibition promoting Malaysian arts and artists is being held at MIFF 2019 for the second time.

This exhibition began with the idea to provide a platform to promote the work of emerging, along with well-known, Malaysian artists. This is a vital concept for the many Malaysian artists whose art is unique in terms of culture. In addition, this exhibition holds investments of art by creating opportunity to reach both regional and global markets.

Thus, with the objective of supporting the growing visual arts and decor industry, ArtEDecor has become a place where talented artists, especially newcomers, are recognised and nurtured—and thereby, gradually building up the economy of tourism and art.

With this aim of developing the market for local art, ArtEDecor makes affordable art, paintings and other decorative items available to discerning collectors, designers and homeowners. This is important, as many talented artists struggle to find opportunities to showcase their work. Plus, this event gives them access to a larger audience to better gain commercial value.

This second instalment of ArtEDecor features more than 80 local artists, with hundreds of pieces on display, from paintings, sculptures, crafts and collectibles, to unique furniture, including art decos. The four-day event is also accompanied by demonstrations, live-drawings, workshops, talks and seminars to bring together budding artists, visitors, art-collectors and art-lovers to share their perspectives on art and the industry.

With support from MASTAC/National Visual Art Gallery and other related bodies and associations, this showcase will not only introduce collectible products, but is also beneficial to buyers and visitors when deciding on which art collections to invest their funds.
